About NextGen Office

NextGen Office started as a company founded by two doctors with one goal—to make medical offices run more efficiently. To achieve this they set out to develop a solution to accommodate physician and staff workflow with easy-to-use, affordable technology that adapts to the provider's workflow and is accessible from anywhere. Now more than 124,000 providers across the United States use NextGen Office and the many more solutions provided by NextGen Healthcare.

With NextGen Office, providers can touch, talk or type encounter notes directly into the clinical documentation. NextGen Office includes MIPS reporting/dashboards, automates insurance eligibility, empowers patients to schedule appointments, request refills, schedule telehealth visits, and connects the care team through direct messaging and referral exchange.
